ABOUT

As a backend developer, I apply clean code and Test Driven Development in all my coding. In addition, I also utilize AI (artificial intelligence) to implement more stable and efficient programs. Currently, I am involved in the project Duniagames.co.id, which is part of Telkomsel. In this project, I create various features ranging from payment methods, message brokers, system log monitoring, and system automation. In the future, I want to challenge myself in various other fields such as data scientist, data engineer, and AI engineer, as I believe these areas are very important for the future.
